

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR DEPLOYMENT OF SENSORS

Abstract

Systems and methods for consistent deployment of sensors for both physical and virtual objects in a context aware environment for responsive environments are described. A method and apparatus that supports user interactions with both virtual and physical objects wherein any type of object can be explicitly instrumented with a sensor, either virtual or physical. User actions are sensed through these sensors and responses can be determined consistently, regardless of whether the object is physical or virtual.